Dr. Roller Throws Jack McGrath

Seattle Physician Required 38 Minutes to Flop Irish Giant and Failed to Secure a Second Fall Inside of Hour—McGrath's Wonderful Defensive Work a Feature.

In the T. A. B. hall Tuesday night, before a crowd of about 500 people, in which were numbered a large representation from the business men of the city, Dr. B. P. Roller, the celebrated Seattle physician, met Jack McGrath, the Irish giant, formerly of this city but now residing in Worcester, Mass., in a hand-to-hand struggle in which he agreed to throw McGrath twice inside of an hour.

The Seattle physician, however, failed to turn the trick, and by this failure the popular Irish giant adds new laurels to his already long list of splendid victories. A fall was obtained by Dr. Roller in 38 minutes, but only after a milling contest in which the splendid defensive work of McGrath shined in his memorable struggle with Zyzosko a month ago was again the star feature.

The match was a fair one, evenly contested, and was watched with intense interest from beginning to end. Both wrestlers cheered enthusiastically whenever they showed up some especially clever work, and as the happened events, the cheering there was almost a continuous volley of cheering and applauding, leaving no doubt in the minds of the spectators that the match was a real one.

But at the end, when Timekeeper Martin Kough announced that the hour was up and the match was stopped by the referee, the crowd roared with delight. The second fall secured, the entire body raved in their seats and cheered McGrath to the echo.

The speed, science and staying qualities shown by the Irish giant against his powerful opponent excited the crowd to all that he is justly entitled to a place among the best in the wrestling game.

Dr. Roller, himself, after the match was over, spoke in the highest terms of his opponent's ability and future promise. The main point was preceded by a preliminary 15 minute match between the two, which was won by McGrath.

Young Gough of Providence, who was scheduled to appear at this time and who won a fall in 11 minutes, with an arm lock, but only after a magnificent struggle, in which both wrestlers showed up splendidly. The match was a real one, and was watched with interest from start to finish. In this match, Gough acted as timekeeper.

It was just 9:15 when Referee Samson announced, amid cheers, the match between Dr. Roller and McGrath. The Irish giant, who was wearing a blue and white striped singlet, and McGrath, who was wearing a red and white striped singlet, were both in excellent condition.

Dr. Roller, who was wearing a blue and white striped singlet, and McGrath, who was wearing a red and white striped singlet, were both in excellent condition. The match was a real one, and was watched with interest from start to finish.

Both of the wrestlers were accorded an enthusiastic reception as they stepped up on the mat, and although it was hoped that McGrath, the home

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.
LOSSES OF A POINT
And Over in Better Known Issues—
—Severe Declines in Others.

New York, Dec. 27.—The trend toward reaction which dominated last week's operations in the stock market became rather more pronounced with the resumption of business today and resulted in a loss of a point and over in the better known issues, with more severe declines in certain specialties. Trading throughout the session was small in volume, with frequent periods of inactivity. If sufficient conditions may be accepted, the heaviness of the list was largely due to the aggressive short selling by a professional group which only recently was more or less conspicuous for the extent of its commitments to the other side. There were no liquidations, but it may be safely assumed that at least a part of today's transactions represented sales by investors who have become weary or disheartened with the dullness of the market and the outlook in general.

Developments over the triple holiday embraced the usual traffic reports from western railroad centers, which indicated heavy receipts and shipments of grains and other foodstuffs and well authenticated statements that the government at Washington is soon to begin action against the so-called electric trust. The sentimental effects of this reported move on the part of the market were not particularly marked, inasmuch as Wall Street had been led to expect that no new "trust" prosecution would be undertaken pending the outcome of the Standard Oil and American Tobacco cases. Shares of the several concerns in this particular class were heavy, with a loss of almost four points in General Electric.

The strength of Consolidated Gas and Western Maryland was in marked contrast to the general weakness of the list, but the movement in these stocks elicited no outside support.

The closing of a local stock bank whose troubles are commonly believed to be an aftermath of the panic of 1907, while in no particular sense a market factor, was hardly helpful to the bull account. The bank's difficulties, however, served to call attention to the latest report of the state banking department, which demonstrates the strength of the local banking system.

The London stock exchange was closed today and London markets generally were dull and featureless. The fortnightly settlement begins in London tomorrow, with no indication that the contagion for Americans will be higher than recently. Money is working lighter in London, however, and another shipment of gold to Egypt, amounting to $1,200,000 was made by the Bank of England.

Last week's bank statement, showing a further gain of cash by local institutions, was a contrasting factor to the greater monetary ease in this market. A more important influence, however, was the lighter demand for time accommodations and the extreme dullness in the securities market.

An unusually large number of railroad reports was issued in the course of the day, of which the most notable was that of the Erie, which showed a very large increase in gross and a comparatively moderate increase in net. Most of the other exhibits were of a similar tenor.

The bond market was irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,233,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENT RULED OFF THE TURF.
Alleged to Have Exorted Money from Prominent Horse Owner.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 27.—At a meeting of the stewards of the Southern Jockey club here today Bert E. Collier, a newspaper correspondent was ruled off the turf for alleged extortion of various sums of money during the 1909-10 racing season here from R. D. Williams, a prominent horse owner.

It was alleged in affidavits presented to the jockey club by several horsemen that Collier, in return for money accepted and for wagers placed for him, promised the support of the newspapers with which he was connected.

The first and only fall was scored by a crotch and half-Nelson hold. Leading up to this, Dr. Roller started with a crotch and half-Nelson hold. McGrath's head into the leg chancery hold, and from that turned into the crotch and half-Nelson, which proved a winner.

After ten minutes' rest the two wrestlers appeared on the mat again and it was announced by the referee that they had but 12 minutes before the hour was up. During this time the doctor showed several trick plays, and as before, employed a number of leg hummerlocks and leg chancery and scissors holds. The bout was fast and exciting, but McGrath's splendid defense was too powerful to overcome, and time was called without Roller gaining a second fall.

DALEY, FORMER PUGILIST, DEAD.
Lightweight's Longest Fight Was 31 Rounds With Gibbons in New Orleans.

Bangor, Me., Dec. 27.—Mike Daley, former lightweight pugilist, was found dead in his cell at the police station here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. City Physician Burgess turned in his report of the death at 10 o'clock.

Daley's longest fight was with Austin Gibbons in New Orleans, Daley being knocked out in the 31st round.

STOVAL'S PHYSIQUE BEST.
Cleveland Player is Finest Built Man in American League.

George Stovall is the best built man, and probably the most perfect physical man in the American league, according to Doc Schneider, team trainer last season. Ty Cobb is well built, but is a little too thin.

Stovall is tall and proportionate in his height and all muscles, said Schneider. "Larry is a fine physical specimen, but I think Stovall is the best built man in the league. He is especially well developed in the lower limbs. He is too broad for his

AFFECT BETTING PERCENTAGE.
Kentucky Racing Commission to Consider Track's Applications Today.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 27.—An important session of the Kentucky State Racing commission will be held at Lexington today, at which time the application of the Kentucky State Racing track for an increase of their percentage on the pari-mutuel and auction pools will be considered.

The commission probably will insist upon the running of more long races at future meetings, and it is expected that they will compel the increase of stake features from $1,500 to a minimum of $2,000 and of purses from $400 to not less than $500.

QUEER SPORT AT JACKSONVILLE.
Horse, Mule, Man and Automobile in Handicap Race.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 27.—A contest unique in sporting events was decided at Menier park Christmas day when the management provided as an added holiday attraction an unusual handicap novelty race in which was tested the speed of an athlete runner, a thoroughbred racehorse, a mule and an automobile.

The winner was returned in Marie Hyde, the racehorse favorite, in betting at 2 to 5, who under the handicap conditions was required to cover six furlongs. Eight lengths back came the mule, which started four and a half furlongs from the wire, while the runner, who had 550 yards to negotiate, finished third.

The automobile, which was asked to travel one and one-eighth miles, after a running start of a sixteenth of a mile, was a distant third, probably due to the slow track.

WILLIE KEELER
KING OF BUNTERS.
Has Been a Star of the First Magnitude in Big Leagues for 17 Years.

After being a star of the first magnitude in the big leagues for the past 17 years, Willie Keeler has at last passed down to the minors, and unless there is a hitch in the negotiations he will wear a Toronto uniform next season.

Keeler was one of the greatest batters in the big leagues for the past 13 of his 17 years in the big leagues, or from 1894 to 1906, inclusive. He batted .350 in 1894, .350 in 1895, .350 in 1896, .350 in 1897, .350 in 1898, .350 in 1899, .350 in 1900, .350 in 1901, .350 in 1902, .350 in 1903, .350 in 1904, .350 in 1905, .350 in 1906, .350 in 1907, .350 in 1908, .350 in 1909, .350 in 1910.

During his career in the big leagues Keeler played with four different clubs. He began with the famous old Baltimore Orioles in 1894, and hit .367 his first season. Those were the palmy days of the Baltimore team, when McCafferty, Keeler, Dyer, Dater (with the Providence Grays), Robinson and Doyle were starting on the diamond along with Keeler.

Willie played with the Orioles until the season of 1899, when he went to Brooklyn, where he performed for four seasons. In two of these seasons, 1899 and 1900, Brooklyn won the National league pennant.

In 1900, when the American league invaded New York, Keeler was induced to leave the National body and become a member of the summer organization. He played seven years with the Yankees, hitting above .300 in four of them. After the season of 1909 Keeler was induced to give his services to the Boston Red Sox, where he played for two seasons.

Willie Keeler is one batter who has been given credit by players and critics alike for his ability to place his bat rather than swing at it. At times it has seemed he deliberately poked the ball through the spit rather than swing at it. He has never been a long hitter. He takes a short hold of the bat, stands close to the plate and makes the ball stop or second base when he hits. He has been rated as the king of all bunters.

Just why Keeler continues to play baseball is hard to understand. He's a demure, demure fellow, and a much more property in Brooklyn besides having investments in other affairs. His days of big salaries are past so it looks as if the old timer is sticking at it for the love of the game.
